Hope Outweighed by Trojans, First Time This Season

Spa Eleven Averages 171 Pounds, Against 167 for Bobcats

CONDITION IS GOOD

Galloway to Start for Dick Moore—Trojans Best in Five Weeks

By LEONARD ELLIS

The Hope High School football team will write into the 1936 season here Thanksgiving afternoon against the Hot Springs Trojans.

The game, originally announced for 2:30, will start promptly at 2 o'clock to enable the Hot Springs delegation to return home before nightfall.

For the first time this season the Bobcats will be up against a team that will outweigh them. According to the probable starting lineups, the Hot Springs team averages 171 pounds against 167 for the Bobcats.

The line average of the two teams is even, 170 pounds. The Hope backfield will be badly outweighed, 172 pounds to 160.

Coach Foy Hammons said Wednesday that his team would be in good condition with the exception of Dick Moore, veteran left tackle. There is little possibility that Moore, suffering from a knee injury will see action.

Galloway for Moore

Hammons said that Galloway, recently, would be shifted to Moore's position. Wilson and Linaker will probably alternate with Galloway.

The Bobcats have an improved backfield with the return to the lineup of Vasco Bright. He will start from the left halfback position with Spears at quarter. W. Parsons at the other half, and McDaniel in the fullback position.

Bright was injured in the Beebe game and has seen but little action in the past five weeks. He returned to the lineup in the DeQueen game for a brief period and fired the pass that brought Hope its only score.

Bright's knee injury is believed to be healed. He will do part of the passing as well as running with the ball.

Prescott Game at Night

One of the largest crowds of the season is expected. Big delegations from Nashville and Prescott are expected. The annual Turkey Day game between those two schools will be played at 7:30 Thursday night at Prescott, enabling fans to see the Hope-Hot Springs game in the afternoon.

Tickets are on sale now at Hope Confectionery, Webb's Newsstand, Jacks Newsstand, Capital Hotel and Corner Drugstore. They may be purchased for 25 and 50 cents if bought before midnight Wednesday.

Thursday morning the price will be 50 and 75 cents. Reserve tickets for the east side of the field are on sale at any time in the last five weeks. Press reports said the Trojans would pack about the same strength it had five weeks ago when the Trojans battled Little Rock to a 0-0 tie.

Officials will be: Referee McConnell, West Point; Umpire, Brasher, Ouachita; Headlinesmen, Dalrymple, Henderson; Field Judge, O'Neil, Hendrix.

The game starts at 2 p. m.

One Arrested in Pine Bluff Fire

H. C. Showers, Drugstore Owner, Is Charged With Arson

FINE BLUFF.—H. C. Showers, owner of the Star Drug Store, 1611 Main street, was arrested late Tuesday night on charges of arson in connection with a fire that started early Tuesday morning and destroyed the drug store building and the Holloway grocery store adjoining with a total loss of approximately $20,000 partially covered by insurance.

The fire was discovered on the second floor of the drug store building at 2:15 a. m. When firemen arrived the flames had spread throughout the upper floor of the drug store as well as the grocery building.

In the early morning of October 8, a fire that originated from undetermined cause did considerable damage at the Star drug store, but was checked before a complete loss resulted.

Deputy Insurance Commissioner J. C. Stevens, of Little Rock, who, also is deputy fire warden, came here to investigate.

Showers was arrested at Sheridan where he also operates a drug store. The arrest was made by Stevens. Deputy Sheriff Thomason of Pine Bluff and Sheriff Clark of Sheridan.

He was brought here and placed in jail for the night. He declined to make a statement.

Two More Boys Enlist in United States Army

Carlless Lee Atkinson, of Fulton, and Eldridge Dee West, from Ravanna, Ark., have enlisted in the U. S. Army through the Texarkana recruiting office, and are to be assigned to Field Artillery; Ft. Francis E. Warren, Wyoming.

A battalion of fire fighters used parachutes in Russia recently to reach a remote area of the Urals, where it curbed a forest fire.

Turned Brown By Brown Turner

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—See a lot these days about this Social Security Act, which stands a good chance being checked by the Supreme Court. It seems sort of funny to some people and a lot of others can't understand it at all. One of the best ways to figure it out is the worker pays one percent of his wages and the employer doubles it up and gets you a pension you won't drive carefully enough long enough to collect it. If you do happen to live to be 65 years old you'll have a lot to remember Roosevelt by even if some other administration happens to repeal it. The king's kind folks won't invite Mrs. Simpson to their houses, but anybody who cops the grand prize never worries about seconds, thirds and fourths.

Albert Graves Is Given Second Term Mayor, by 2 to 1

Polls 454 Votes to Boyett's 233 in City Primary Election

4 COUNCILMEN WIN

All Present Aldermen Beat Off Challengers for Renomination

Albert Graves was renominated mayor of Hope with a majority of approximately two-to-one over the veteran former city executive, R. A. (Ruff) Boyett, in Tuesday's Democratic primary election.

The complete unofficial tabulation showed: Graves 454; Boyett 233.

All four aldermen standing for new terms were also renominated. L. Carter Johnson, without formal opposition in Ward One, encountered a write-in opponent at the polls, however, a scattering vote being recorded in three of the four wards for Clyde Monts. Voters wrote in Monts' name on 28 ballots, against a total vote of 623 for Johnson.

In Ward Two, where incumbent K. G. Hamilton was faced with two opponents, Hamilton won handily, 389 votes to 186 for Luther Rodgers, and 98 for O. L. Wyatt.

In Ward Four, incumbent C. E. Taylor defeated W. H. A. Schneker 240 to 123.

Ward Three Alderman Roy Johnson was renominated without opposition, polling 684 votes.

City Treasurer Charles Reynerson was renominated without opposition on a total vote of 689; and the same went for Municipal Judge W. K. Lemley, on a vote of 689.

Killing in Union County Is Debated

Two More Negro Suspects Arrested in Slaying of Albert Welch

EL DORADO, Ark.—(AP)—Union county officers disagreed Tuesday over the motive for the decapitation-slaying of Albert Welch, 50-year-old Cairo, Ark., farmer.

Sheriff Grady Woolley, reporting that Welch had about $200 on his person when killed, said he believed robbery was the motive, but deputy officers expressed the opinion that the farmer was killed by some person or persons who had a "grudge" against him. They pointed out that the killing was too brutal for robbery-slaying.

Coroner Maurice Hall held an inquest into the case Tuesday but announced afterwards that he developed no clues toward its solution.

Sheriff Woolley arrested two additional negroes as "suspects" in the case. He arrested Monday a negro he described as Julius Wilson who lived near Welch's farm home. No charges have been filed against the trio.

What You Should Know About—NEW SOCIAL SECURITY LAW

5. How Employment and Wage Records Are Assembled and Kept.

TIME wage record of the estimated 26,000,000 employees for whom federal old-age benefits begin to accrue on January 1, 1937, will be maintained from information returns, or wage reports, submitted periodically by employers.

The information returns are required under treasury regulation 91, made public recently by the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

The first information return will be for the six-month period ending June 30, 1937, and it is required that it be filed at the offices of a collector of internal revenue not later than July 31, 1937. Thereafter, these information returns are required quarterly.

In addition, the treasury regulations require employers to file an information return with respect to each employee who attains the age of 65 or who dies before attaining the age of 65.

Both of these reports must be filed not later than 15 days after the employee attains the age of 65 or after death.

The information contained in the wage reports will be used by the records division of the bureau of federal old-age benefits, Social Security Board, in giving each eligible employee his proper wage credit for the period for which the return is made.

The system of making this entry on the ledger account of each employee will be almost entirely mechanical.

The process includes not only the entry periodically, but also a tabulation which will show at the end of the year each employee's total wage credits for that year, and then another tabulation showing the accumulated credits for as many years as the employee has credits to his account.

Dr. J. K. Smith of Texarkana Is Hurt

Well Known Surgeon Sustains Broken Neck in Mena Collision

MENA, Ark.—(AP)—Dr. J. K. Smith, Texarkana surgeon, suffered a broken neck Tuesday night when his automobile collided with a truck on the Texarkana-Mena highway and overturned down a steep embankment.

He was en route to Mena on a professional call at the time.

Sheriff Walter Jones said he was holding in the county jail without a formal charge a man he described as W. P. Smith, a Granville sawmill operator, who he said was the driver of the truck.

Dr. Smith was removed to a De Queen hospital.

The prosecuting attorney said he was investigating the accident.

Mrs. J. K. Smith, who was with her husband, also received slight bruises and cuts. Her condition was not serious, however, and she was not confined to the hospital.

Physicians were reluctant to say how serious they thought Dr. Smith's injuries were until further examinations had been completed. Dr. Smith was conscious when taken to the hospital here Tuesday night and remained in this condition as the diagnosis continued.

Thought Slavery "Election Issue"

Peacher Attorney Expected Lawsuit Would Be Allowed "to Die"

JONESBORO, Ark.—(AP)—Defense counsel for Paul D. Peacher, Earle (Ark.) city marshal on trial for alleged violation of the federal anti-slavery trial, told a jury in the closing arguments Wednesday that the defense had expected the prosecution to be dropped after the recent national election.

"I thought when the election was over this lawsuit would be allowed to die out," Defense Attorney N. S. Land said.

"There had to be an investigation with the tenant union siding most of the time with the defense," Peacher told the jury. "I thought when the election was over this lawsuit would be allowed to die out," Defense Attorney N. S. Land said.

Land alleged that the Southern Tenant Farmers union, which has repeatedly charged peonage in eastern Arkansas, "are back of this whole situation."

In Glaucoma, Pressure of Fluid Within Eyeballs Causes Blindness

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.

Glaucoma causes 15 per cent of all blindness in this country, and about one-half of the blindness in adults. In this condition, pressure within the eyeball brings about loss of sight.

There is interference with the passing out of the fluid that comes into the eye, and it is accumulation of this fluid that brings about the pressure. As the pressure increases, there is pain, the eye gets hard and reddened, and the pupil gray and cloudy. This is the acute form of glaucoma.

There is, however, a second and much more serious form in which there is gradual obstruction of the drainage system so that the pressure increases very slowly. In this case the loss of sight takes place gradually.

A physician uses the ophthalmoscope to determine whether the pressure has been sufficiently great to cause a depression of the optic nerve at the back of the eye. With another instrument, a tonometer, he measures the pressure from time to time to determine whether it is increasing or decreasing.

As the glaucoma develops, the person finds that he can see ahead of him as well as he ever would, but not so well as to the sides. Then, as the glaucoma progresses, the vision in front also becomes narrowed so that finally sight is completely lost.

Another device used in attending disturbances of the eye is the perimeter, purpose of which is to measure the width of the field of vision. If it is found to be steadily narrowing, the doctor suspects the presence of glaucoma.

Obviously a correct, early diagnosis means a great deal toward saving the victim's vision, and preventing pain, pressure, and general symptoms.

Women who are getting on in years should take particular care of their eyes. They are more likely to suffer from glaucoma than are men.

Excitement often is a factor in causing an attack, because, when a person is excited, there is an increased flow of blood to his eyes.

Various drugs are available for the treatment of glaucoma which lower the pressure in the eye and contract the pupil. Glasses are not especially useful in this condition, yet people who are more interested in selling glasses than in taking suitable care of the eyes frequently will temporize with the condition by providing glasses.

In many instances, control by drugs is impossible. For cases of this type, surgical procedures have been developed which are frequently successful in saving sight and in controlling the glaucoma.

Your Children

Adjustment to Life Is Hardest for Boys

Boys have a harder time of it than girls, in this world. It startsles you, after my story about Bo-Peep, who was born with an over-worrying disposition, let me explain.

I am not discounting the troubles of the girls. I am quite with them when they say, "It's a man's world." No matter why, but freedom, alone, is one good reason. If the family-man raises his brows, he must remember that he is the proposing. Or did he? About the boys, though. Here is the set-up. As babies, they had a few little physiological matters to overcome, that deal with biology. One cannot say exactly that they are weaker as babies, but an adjustment to living on their own, away from mother's comfortable body, is harder than for girls.

Boys Dual-Natured

Well, perhaps this is by the way, but it puts the boy on the fence from the very beginning. He stays on the fence all his life.

He is nearly always two-sided. In many men this might appear to be a joke. From early boyhood they have been so masculine that the very thought of a poet, or a dose for a cold, or tipping one's hat makes them hoot. But they are two-sided just the same. All boys and men are. In other words they are filled with conflicts, and this strategy of hiding their softer selves is pure camouflage to fool both themselves and the world.

Always and forever they are having a fight between the things that are "manly" and "brave," and the inner urge to slack a bit. If they let down for a minute, and give way to the graces or cases of life, the world calls sissies. They, themselves would despise it, because certain rules for masculine conduct have been laid down for them from the cradle on.

Little boys lean to their mothers. Psychologists like to attribute this, also to biology. I protest. It is just that the tiny fellow is as human as the girl, is full of those small hangers and needs of all babies, and refuses to be forced into the unnatural position of being an independent male. His father wants to make him into a man at once. He pulls away from this pressure and doubles his attention to his mother, who, in turn, doubles it back. But by association with, and the example of other boys, he gradually draws away from this first estate. He really overdoes, then, in his efforts at applause. He likes to be called a real he-man, and as he gets little praise in any other direction, he goes in for it mightily.

Boy Must Conform

Oh, yes, he has the boy's instincts of horse-play and muscle. He is a boy, after all. But, sometimes, he can't take to his normal expectancy of the world very quickly, and if he is sensitive, and quietly seeks escapes in books, or dreams or his own company, he is branded a sissy. In this case, he sure he is rather miserable, for he knows better than anyone else what people are thinking. He can't lick himself. Often he finds relief after a while in music or the paint brush, and this is an out, for then folk say he is "artistic." Magic word. And he becomes a good artist, or a good writer, because art is often a deep cry from the soul.

The world thrusts him out of work, the boy or any and every nature. He must work and make a living, or shame on him. What a terrific responsibility. Many girls have to, too, but if they fail, nobody points a finger. In short the boy has to live up to the world's conception of a boy, regardless of his nature. He is usually as soft inside, often more so, than a girl. He is weak at times, affectionate, likes mothering and cuddling. Girls, we can forgive you, and even praise you, for that. But the boy? Oh, never.

A Book a Day

By Bruce Catton

This "Picture Book" Is Entertaining

Making books with a camera instead of a typewriter is getting to be a good American custom. It produces some highly entertaining books, too; not the least of their virtues is the fact that you don't have to sit up until midnight to learn how they are going to come out.

Most notable of the fall "picture books" probably is "U. S. Corner 1936," edited by T. J. Maloney (Morrow: $2.50). This is a collection of some 200 photographs, contributed by amateurs and professionals—photographs of practically everything imaginable.

Some of them are landscapes, some are industrial studies, some are studio portraits, some are the work of advertising cameramen, and some are stunt pictures pure and simple. A few are exceedingly good, and the book as a whole is well worth examining.

Then there is "Trees," with text and 82 photos by Thomas O. Sheckell (Stokes: $4). In this book Mr. Sheckell has assembled some strikingly lovely studies of American trees—cottonwoods, and aspens in Utah, elms in New York state, cypresses and eucalyptus in California, and so on—and the result is a rarely beautiful and satisfying book.

Loose trees, dead sentinels, forests, shade trees; they're all here, presented in a way that is a tribute to Mr. Sheckell's artistic sense and his skill as a photographer.

Our Government Has Its Stork-Derby Problem, Too

Lastly, there's "The Body Beautiful," compiled and edited by Heyworth Campbell (Dodge: $3). This is a collection of "art studies" of the human figure, principally female. I actually know an artist who bought the book for the purpose of studying art.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

Laxatives are only snake-oils. A meter bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else, too.

Questions That Some Folks Ask About Cardui

BENEFIT FOR MAL-NUTRITION

Thousands of women testify Cardui has helped them to overcome mal-nutrition and to ease many of the functional pains of menstruation.

"What is meant by 'helping to overcome mal-nutrition'?"

Cardui contains extracts of two plants which are classed among the "bitters" in medicine because they are known to increase the flow of digestive juices—to improve digestion—so there is a craving for sufficient food for the body's needs, and by their action more energy for strength is obtained from the food eaten. The food, of course, brings the additional strength, but Cardui serves as the means, to this end, by its good influence on the digestive system.

Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving Day is one of the best gifts of the Pilgrim Fathers to the people of this continent. The earliest observance of a harvest Thanksgiving in America was at Plymouth in 1621. The festival which at its inception was entirely religious in character, has been observed more or less regularly from that time onward. The celebration originated by the Pilgrims spread throughout the country until at length Thanksgiving was established as a national festival. Thanksgiving Day brings back many tender memories and, if we observe it on the proper spirit as a day for giving thanks for all that we are privileged to enjoy, so may it be a day not only of rest and recreation of happy reunions and warm comradeship, but of real blessing, wherever and however our lot is cast, and in the words of the poet shall we not pause to think of those first Thanksgivings:

Shall we not pause, as we make holiday,
To think of those Novembers harsh and gray
Our fathers spent on stern New England's soil?
They reckoned not the bitterness and toll,
The sacrifice, the hardships, and the strife,
The struggle yet to wage for home and life,
But watched the bursting of the sterile soil
With shoots of green, and gave their thanks to God.
Shall we not pause one moment on our way,
As we make joyous, carefree holiday,
To think of those Novembers long ago?
Of stony ground the Pilgrims toiled to sow;
Of rivers bridged; of tangled forests cleared
To pave the way for cities we have reared;
Of schools and churches built; of brave lives spent
For liberty and faith and high intent;
Shall we, whose blessings are so richly poured,
Forget to say a simple "Thank you, Lord?"

President Washington issued a proclamation recommending that November 26, 1789 be kept as a day of National Thanksgiving. For years the festival was almost exclusively a New England institution; the day gradually became a custom in the Western and some of the Southern states, each appointing its own day.

In 1864 President Lincoln issued a proclamation in which he appointed and set aside the last Thursday in November as a day of National Thanksgiving. Since Lincoln's time, each president has set aside the last Thursday of November for a like festival, so that Thanksgiving Day is now as firmly fixed a national feature as the Fourth of July.

"Gay Desperado" at the Saenger

Nino Martini in Musical Romance Below the Rio Grande

Romance, melody and laughter are the order of the day the Saenger's Thanksgiving Day and Friday show where Nino Martini, the handsome singing star of radio, grand opera and films, will delight audiences in "The Gay Desperado."

Do yourself a favor and take your self—and your best beau (or gal) and the whole family—down to see this skillful concoction of every ingredient of a perfect evening's entertainment—it's the answer to a movie fan's prayer.

A far cry from the usual film featuring an operatic songbird, "The Gay Desperado," bristly directed by the inimitable Rouben Mamoulian, is a fast-moving, thrill-packed, laugh-laden story, laid below the Rio Grande.

As a slinky-throated singer in a little Mexican movie house, Martini proves that he can act as well as sing, (and very ingeniously) bandit who worships American gangsters and decides to adopt their methods, but is really a sentimental, music-loving chap at heart.

Martini's song repertoire includes "The World Is Mine Tonight," already popular on the radio, "Adios My Tierra," and three famous Mexican songs, "Cielito Lindo," "Lamento Gitano" and "Estrellita." The Verdi aria, "Celeste Aida," is the highlight of the operatic numbers.

HALF-ACRE in EDEN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

MARCIA CAMPBELL, daughter of wealthy PHILIP CAMPBELL, has been the subject of a buzzing with gossip over the sudden disappearance of PHILIP CAMPBELL, whose engagement to Marcia has been announced. Since his disappearance, a short time ago, Marcia's friends have been looking for her.

With her friend, HELEN WADSWORTH, Marcia is in a restaurant when there is a hold-up. Marcia loses a ring that was her mother's.

Learning that Frank is in Chicago, Marcia goes there to try to persuade him to return and face his financial obligations. Before she reaches him, Frank leaves again.

Meanwhile, TONY STELLICE suspects his brother, CARLO, of having been involved in the hold-up and finds some of the loot in Carlo's home.

Marcia, learning her trip was in vain, takes a plane home. Steffen forces the plane down and passengers seek shelter in a barn house. Among them is BRUCE McDOUGALL, a stranger whom Marcia has encountered twice before.

Marcia arrives home. Shortly after there is another hold-up. Marcia and Helen drop in to see the friends who the Bradfords. Bruce McDougall is there.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XIII

TRUE to the arrangement made half in jest, Joan Bradford appeared at the following night's rehearsal of "Half-Acre in Eden" with Bruce McDougall in tow. Since the artist virtually had been won over to a decision to make his home in Bobb's Neck instead of New York, Joan considered it advisable that he "get to know people" as soon as possible. "And where," she had asked Mike, her husband, "will you find more people in a bunch than at a Stagecraft Guild rehearsal?"

Promising the artist that they would "only look in for a minute" and then meet Mike upon his arrival on the 10 o'clock train from another evening assignment, she brought McDougall into the auditorium as work began on the second act. Dorothy Osborn, finished with the first act and having no more to do until the third, had come off the stage and was passing the door on her way to a seat when the two entered.

McDougall was introduced to her by the whippers made necessary by the action on the stage, and Dorothy had started to move on when Mrs. Charles Horton approached on tiptoe with a summons for Joan from the chairman of the costume committee for the play, who was seated across the hall.

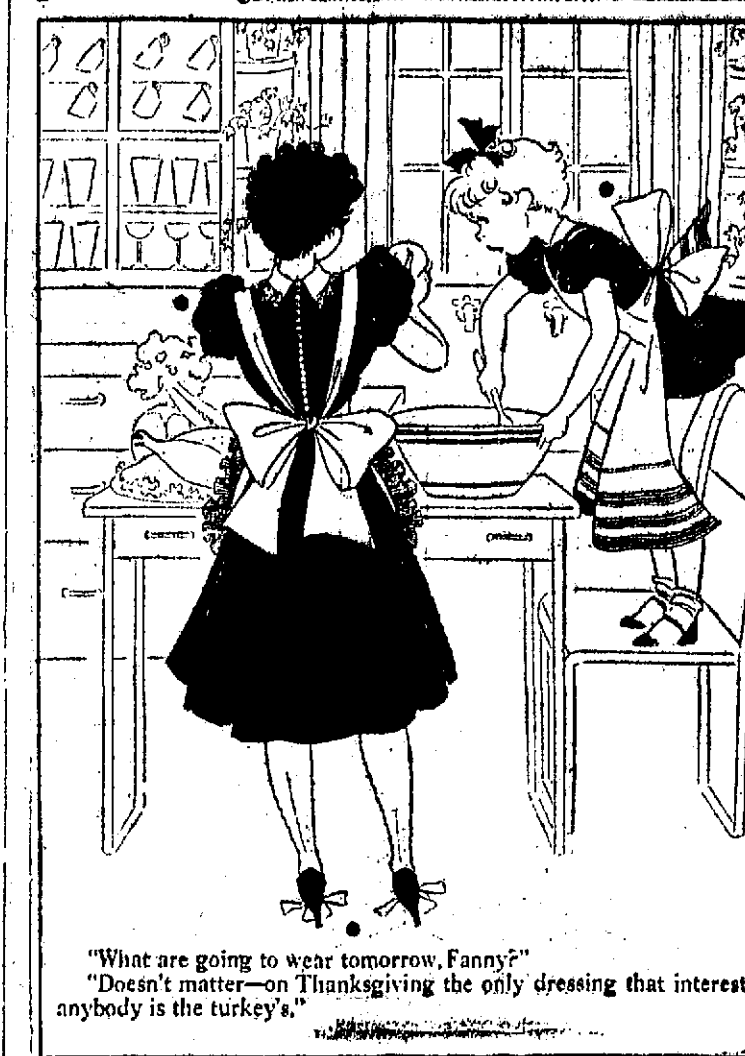

"I'll be back in a moment," she promised.

Dorothy and Mrs. Horton were talking in undertones. McDougall, a few paces apart from them, felt free to take a seat.

Marcia, Helen and Ralph Hannon, Jr., were on the stage. The artist watched the girl who once had been his unknowing model for a sketch; she was again unconscious of him, but there was a vast difference in her.

Sitting alone and watching her, as he had done before, he remembered her as she had been on that first occasion. What had caused her mood? Now she was playing a part; then she had been herself.

The appearance of embarrassment which already had become familiar to Marcia returned to McDougall as he realized that although he had followed every word and action on the stage he had been conscious only of movement and tone.

He was aware of whispers behind him.

"But how silly of Marcia," said Dorothy Osborn, "to fly out to Chicago after him!"

"Well, my dear," said Mrs. Horton from the pinnacle of her greater experience, "a woman does some funny things when she's in love with a man."

"I think I could give him up, under the circumstances," Dorothy remarked.

Joan, returning, interrupted the flow of information to McDougall's ears.

"There's a lot of people I want you to meet," she told him. "Do you mind sticking around just a while longer? It isn't train time yet."

At the end of the second act, however, Mrs. Henderson, the director, announced that that would be all for the evening. She announced further a blanket invitation to the Stagecraft Guild membership to attend a Christmas afternoon reception at her home, and then the players, the scattering of committee members and mere idlers trooped out.

AS usual, a party was made up for a hamburger and coffee call at the Dog Wagon.

Joan thoughtfully instructed the taxi drivers at the station to direct Mike, upon his arrival, across the street to the restaurant. "Tell him it's his wife, if he wants to know who the lady is that's asking for him"—and then piloted McDougall to a place among the crowd that was giving its unvarying orders to Tony Stellice.

"Any more holdups, Tony?" someone called down the counter. "There was a robbery here," Joan explained to McDougall. "A lot of this same crowd was held up by four men the other night. Lost all they had with them, however much that was."

"It was plenty," protested someone nearby. "They got a dollar watch and 80 cents off me alone." "The girls lost their jewelry,"

Lindbergh Safe in Delayed Landing

Feared Lost When No Word From Him Between Ireland, England

DUBLIN, Irish Free State.—(AP)—The defense department of the Irish Free State said Wednesday it had been informed that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh had landed in England, but it had not learned where.

Anxiety for Lindbergh's safety mounted throughout the night when he was unreported in a three-hour flight to England.

Was Feared Lost

DUBLIN.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh's long absence on a projected flight from Ireland to England, caused official Irish fears for his safety early Wednesday.

Frank Aiken, Irish minister of defense, expressed concern for the safety of the American flyer, at the same time expressing an opinion Lindbergh might have landed at an English airport.

Lindbergh was en route from Ireland to his country residence in England.

An earlier report he had landed at Newmarket in Northern Ireland could not be confirmed.

Morgan on Stand in Bombing Trial

Former Utilities Magnate Denies He Tried to Blow Up Auto

FORT SMITH, Ark.—(AP)—S. R. Morgan of Little Rock, former utilities magnate, entered a sweeping denial from the witness stand Tuesday night to state charges that he conspired to plant a dynamite bomb in the automobile of D. D. Panich, Little Rock lawyer, here last June.

Morgan is charged with assault with intent to kill. He spent one and one-half hours on the stand, at a night session of Circuit Court and will be questioned further Wednesday.

"I had nothing to do with it," Morgan declared in denying that he joined V. E. Tyler, Little Rock private investigator, and E. R. (Pat) Williams, Little Rock mechanic, in a plot against Panich.

Morgan denied he met Tyler in Fort Smith June 22, the day the bomb was discovered attached to the motor of Panich's automobile while it was being serviced at a filling station. He also denied ever having discussed the alleged plot with Tyler, Williams "or anyone else."

Tyler testified that Morgan hired him to place the bomb in Panich's car and that Williams aided in the plot.

Contradicting statements he made before the Grand Jury, Williams confessed to perjury and denied having had any connection with the purported plot. He said that Panich had advised him to testify falsely. A perjury charge was filed against Williams.

Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fourth night if needed.

How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs are one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminators, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of the germ-laden mucus and toxins.

Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the blood. Thus let the first night and repeat the third or fourth night if needed.

Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package. (Adv.)

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein
LONE KING OF THE MOUNTAINS
HEAVILY guarded, and practically without companions in his great, modern palace, sits King Zog I of Albania. For few with whom he can converse come to the faraway valley capital of Tirana. Yet King Zog, just past 40, is popular with his million subjects, hardy mountaineers of ancient stock.
This highly educated ruler, born of an old feudal family, won national renown by fighting for the independence of his country. At the age of 19, in 1912, he hurried back from the officers' academy at Constantinople to lead the troops of his native district against the Serbs at Scutari. By the time he was 25, he had become supreme commander of the Albanian army. At 28, he was minister of the interior.
In 1924, Ahmed Bey Zogu, as he was known, fled the country when a revolution broke out. But he came back and smothered the revolt and in February, 1925, was elected president of the newly formed Albanian republic.
In September, 1928, Albania became a kingdom and Ahmed Zogu became King Zog I. His picture appears on several stamps issued from 1925 on.

Sutherland Sees Army, Stanford Winners

Coach Picks L.S.U. to Win Over Tulane

Sutherland Also Believes T. C. U. Will Win From Southern Methodist

By JOCK SUTHERLAND
Head Coach, University of Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH.—Army, Navy, Columbia, Stanford. Those two games headline the list of contests that mark the stretch drive of the 1936 football season.

A few games hold the glamour of those combats, which see a pair of traditional rivals facing each other in the service contest, and a new inter-sectional series start, the result of the 1935 Rose Bowl game between the Lions from Morningside Heights and the Indians from Palo Alto.

The game between the Cadets of West Point and the Middle of Annapolis attracts the attention of the nation. Here is a classic, one that grips the imagination of every football lover in the country, as well as every service man in America and abroad.

Army was booming along toward an unbeaten season until it ran into Colgate and then Notre Dame. Yet it still is a good football team, and Monk Meyer is a good enough back for any coach.

Navy No Pushover
Navy has been defeated by Yale, Princeton, and Penn, but not very badly. The Middies have contested every inch gained against them this year. In the Harvard and Notre Dame games, which they won, they showed signs of coming out of their early season difficulties, with Sneed Schmidt, a star full-back, and Bill Ingram, another, carrying the attack burden.

I don't expect Army to get away to such a flying start as it did a year ago, but it will give it a slight edge.

Stanford is at the Polo Grounds for an engagement with Columbia, which is an outgrowth of the Rose Bowl game of 1935, which saw an underrated Stanford defeat the Cardinal sophomores.

Stanford's Cardinal sophomores, Tim Thornhill, who played with them at Pittsburgh, lost his sophomore year, but his army has come along nicely, and he has too many men for Columbia this trip. Lou Little lacks material at Morningside Heights.

This is Stanford's first appearance in the east since 1932, when Pittsburgh repelled the Red Shirts, 7-0, in the final start of the campaign for both sides. That was the last contest in which that grand old strategist, Pop Warner, directed the Palo Altoans.

In 1933 and 1934, Warner drilled Stanford outfits put on football fashion shows in the east at the expense of Army and Dartmouth, respectively. The smashing victory over Red Cagle and the Cadets led to the adoption of the Warner system at West Point. Major Ralph Sasse went to Palo Alto to make a close study of Warner methods during the Cardinals' spring practice the following year.

Tigers Look Best
In Tulane, Louisiana State faces the final barrier in the way of a Sugar Bowl or Rose Bowl bid. The Tigers have one of the greatest all-around teams in the country, very well balanced. For this reason it must be given edge over the Green Wave.

Texas Christian and Southern Methodist meet again, but this year no Rose Bowl bid awaits the winner, although the southwest has a host of friends on the coast. Because of Sammy Baugh, this looks like the Christians' game.

Auburn meets an improved Florida team, but the Gators are not yet in the class with Jack Meagher's Plainsmen.

Boston College Tough
Holy Cross had better watch Boston College. Gil Dobie has a habit of pulling one upset each year, and this might be the one. I'll vote for Holy Cross, with my fingers crossed.

Georgia Tech and Georgia meet in the feature of the day in Georgia. Georgia Tech has been very inconsistent this fall, slumping badly after a brilliant start.

Georgia has been improving of late, making up for a poor early season. Because of offensive strength, however, the edge must be given to Georgia Tech.

Nebraska has a hard game in the Oregon State title, especially after the trip to Portland. Bad weather conditions might handicap the Huskers, but I still think that Dana Bible has enough stuff to win fairly comfortably.

Baylor and Rice, both of whom have caused trouble in the Southwest Conference, provide another interesting battle, with Baylor having a slight edge over Rice, the latter without a good passer, a fatal handicap in that country.

CCC Camps May Produce Rich Baseball Material

WASHINGTON.—(NEA)—War Department figures show that more than 60,000 boys in CCC camps last season played baseball, and it is expected that the traveling baseball school operated in conjunction with the national summer tournament, held annually in Wichita, Kan., will include the various camps in its educational tour next season.

Major league officials expect this governmental agency to become a rich farm for baseball talent.

Wolves in Shape for Nashville Tilt

Game Will Be Played Thursday Night Instead of Afternoon

NASHVILLE, Ark.—Coach Lester Bradley's Nashville high school Scrappers will close a fairly successful season Thursday night when they clash with their traditional rivals, the Prescott Curly Wolves at Prescott.

The rivalry that has preceded the game down through the years makes the affair a much looked forward to event that is always well attended by fans of both teams.

Since the start of the season the Wolves have been gradually getting stronger. The past week they demonstrated this fact when they held the powerful DeQueen Leopards to a 14 to 6 score.

The Scrappers, having played 11 games this season have only two defeats chalked up against them, one to the Hope Bobcats and the other to the Russellville high school. Nine teams have fell under the hard charging Scrappers' backs. They are Beebe, Dierks, Camden, Smackover, DeQueen, Texarkana, Horatio, Ashdown and Subiaco.

Prescott Is Set
FRESHCOTT.—The Prescott High-Nashville high football game scheduled to be played Thanksgiving afternoon will be played Thursday night. Prescott is in good condition. The Wolves came out of the close game with DeQueen without injuries.

Patmos Wins Two Games at Emmet
Emmet Girls, However, Get Revenge in Third Game, 63 to 11

Patmos High School junior and senior basketball teams defeated Emmet in two games played last Saturday at Emmet.

Score for the senior boys' game was 23 to 20. Patmos took the lead in the last three minutes of the final quarter and held it until the whistle ended the game.

High-point man for Patmos was Owens, who scored eight points. Weston led the Emmet cagers with six points.

The score in the junior contest was 25 to 19 in favor of Patmos. Hubbard led the Patmos team by scoring eight points. Manhon of Emmet was high-point man for the night with nine.

Following the two games, the Emmet girls' team handed Patmos a severe shellacking, 63 to 11.

Benton Meets Redbugs at Fordyce Thursday

FORDYCE.—With a victory over Malvern High School in their last game, the Fordyce Redbugs will be ready for their Thanksgiving Day game here with Benton High School. It will be the first time a game has been played here on Thanksgiving Day in many years.

Cubage, star blocking halfback and safety man, suffered another injury to his knee in the Malvern game and it is unlikely he will be able to play Thursday. Ramsey, halfback and who has done all the punting, is also out with an injured knee and did not play against Malvern.

Ouachita Expects Stiff Competition

ARKADELPHIA.—A sunshiny day cheered the football players of Ouachita and Henderson State colleges who are preparing for the stiff competition of the season this week. KICK-OFF AT 2 P. M.

Starting line of the Hope and Hot Springs football game Thursday at Hope will be at 2 o'clock instead of 2:30 as previously announced.

Hot Springs officials asked for the 2 o'clock starting time to allow a large delegation of rooters coming here by automobiles to return home before midnight.

Coach Fay Hammons called attention again to fans that tickets are on sale in five downtown places for 25 and 50 cents, if purchased before midnight Wednesday.

Thursday morning the price for general admission rises to 50 and 75 cents. Buy your tickets now!

Reserve seat tickets for the east side of the field are on sale at only one place, Hope Confectionery. They may be purchased for 25 cents, either Wednesday or Thursday.

The weather man Wednesday promised real Thanksgiving weather for the final game of the season. The forecast: Freezing Wednesday night; Thursday fair and clear.

BIG CROWD EXPECTED

The Hope-Hot Springs game will probably attract the largest crowd this season.

Tom Bemis of Prescott telephoned The Star Wednesday that the annual Prescott-Nashville game to be played at Prescott has been moved back to 7:30 Thursday night.

This will allow many fans from both cities to come here for the Bobcat-Trojan game.

TROJANS IN SHAPE

Press reports from Hot Springs indicate that the injured-plastered Trojan will be in better physical shape than any time in the last five weeks.

The Trojans have dropped their last four games, Pine Bluff, Camden, El Dorado and Fort Smith. Naturally, with an improved lineup, they are expected to put up the hardest battle of the season in an effort to beat Hope and erase some of the effect for those four losses.

The Bobcats, smarting under the DeQueen defeat, will be out for vengeance. Several of the Hope players will be playing their last game. This will add to their fight.

From all indications it looks like a real game ahead for southwest Arkansas fans.

"The Bobcats will be everything except 'nice fellows' when the kick-off starts the game at 2 p. m. And too, we can't believe that the Bobcats are harboring any artificial confidence—that so disastrously ruined them in the DeQueen game.

It will be a hard fight from start to finish and here's hoping you win. We believe you can Bobcats!

We believe you mean business!

APPLY NOW
If Coach Fay Hammons of Hope, Sam Coleman of Camden, or Jimmy Walker of El Dorado, hopes to get a game with the Blytheville "Wonder Boys" for next season they would do well to put in their application at once.

Press reports tell us that Athletic Director Quigley of Little Rock has offered Blytheville every date on the Tiger schedule with the exception of the annual Tiger-Zebra date and the Thanksgiving Day battle with North Little Rock.

So far we have heard of no game arranged between the two schools.

The Blytheville newspaper tells us that the September 24 date is open, but that Blytheville officials can "see no reason why they should meet Little Rock or any other major team in their first game if they do not desire to do so."

The Blytheville paper further states that the October 8 date is tentatively arranged with Jonesboro; Walnut Ridge is slated for the October 22 and that November 5 has been offered to "another team," but doesn't mention who.

The week previous to November 5 the Chicks, play Greenwood, Miss., the newspaper continues.

We understand, however, that Blytheville is willing to break into big company for one game and is negotiating with Hot Springs on a "home and home" agreement.

"LOVE" FROM AL
Al Rose, editor of the Camden News, still insists that Hope was lucky in three crucial games this year. It seems that all kinds of figures and facts can't persuade Al to the contrary.

To "cheer" you up Al, we'll pick El Dorado to win that Thanksgiving game from Camden. It ought to be a good one with both Kizza and Shelby in there.

Techman. All of the squad, except one or two, is in fine shape and Coach Cudduth expects his most injured players to recover sufficiently to play if necessary.

Arkadelphia fans expect a great game between a good Ouachita team and the big Wesleyans.

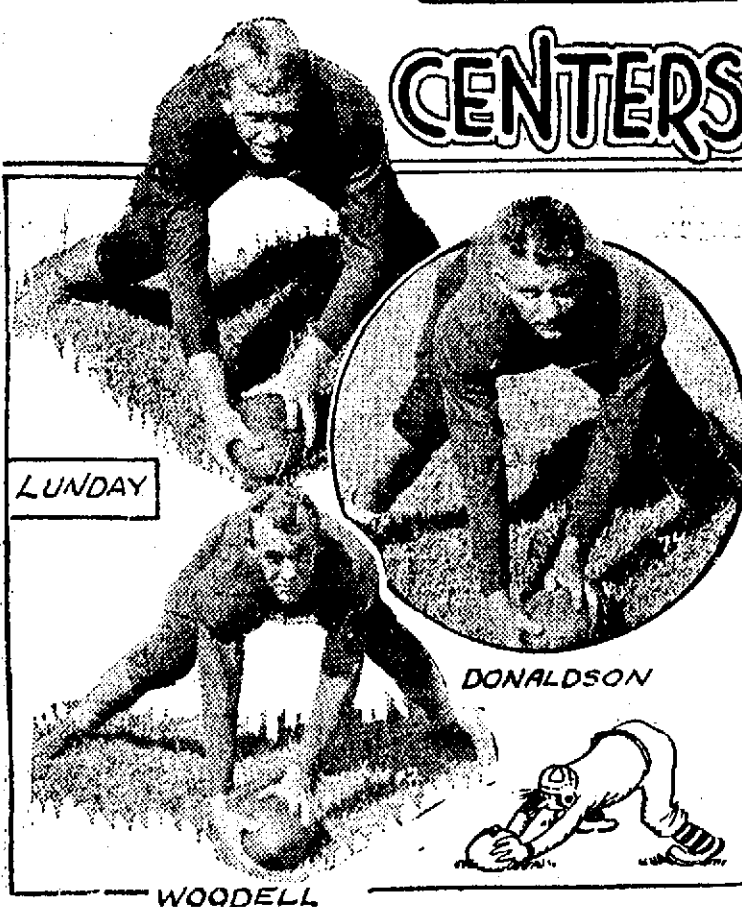

Few Ouachita teams have shown the talent and spirit of this year's eleven. In their own class, they have been invincible. How they will fare against a heavier team such as Wesleyan remains to be seen.

Coach Bill Walton is receiving praise for bringing a strong opponent rather than one with which his Tigers could make a Roman holiday.

Many Requests for Rose Bowl Tickets

Checks Pour in Despite Ducats Not Available or Teams Picked

PASADENA, Calif.—(AP)—The annual national clamor for tickets to the Rose Bowl football game was started in earnest, despite the fact the game is six weeks away, neither team has been selected—and the tickets have not been placed on sale.

For days letters from all parts of the country have been rolling into tournament of roses headquarters containing checks and applications for tickets. Their volume indicated a capacity crowd of 85,000 in the huge bowl January 1.

Returning the applications and checks to the senders, tournament officials explained that none are accepted until the week's leading football team has been selected by the Pacific Coast Conference, and athletic officials of the school arrive in Pasadena to take over arrangements for the game.

This year the coast team selection hinges on the outcome of the Thanksgiving Day game between the Washington Huskies and the Washington State Cougars at Seattle.

Immediately after the game the graduate manager of athletics of the winning school will come to Pasadena and open the ticket sales.

It is the same policy followed year in and year out, since the colorful inter-sectional series first started in 1916. But year in and year out, the applications and checks start coming in months ahead of the New Year's date.

Cites Rat Damage
AUBURN, Ala.—(AP)—W. A. Ruffin, extension entomologist at Alabama Polytechnic Institute, asks the American public to consider the cost of the rat. "Each rat eats about $2 worth of food annually," he declares, recommending poisoning campaigns against the pests.

Camden Works for El Dorado Contest

Panthers in Good Shape, Game to Be Played at El Dorado

CAMDEN.—For the first time this season Coach Sam Coleman held a Saturday workout for his Camden High School Panthers in preparation for the El Dorado game Thursday.

Coleman gave his reserves plenty of work against Linden, Texas. None of the Panthers was injured and the team is in fair shape.

A large crowd will accompany the team to El Dorado.

Camden and El Dorado have been meeting since 1907 and for many years played two games each season. Since Coleman came here the game has become a Thanksgiving feature.

Clarksville-Russellville to Play Morning Contest

RUSSELLVILLE.—Thursday morning will find two high school grid rivals of long standing mixing it here as the Russellville Crimson Cyclones and the Clarksville Panthers meet at 10 a. m.

Since both teams have defeated all opponents in the Arkansas Valley, the game is attracting much attention.

Warren After Southwest Conference Championship

WARREN.—Warren High School Lumberjacks will play Dermott here Wednesday night in the final game of the season.

Warren is the only undefeated team in the Southeast Arkansas Conference. Victory over the lighter Dermott team will clinch the title for the Lumberjacks. A loss would mean a tie with McGee.

Razorbacks Leave for Tulsa Contest

Lloyd Woodell, Center, Unlikely to Play Against Hurricanes

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark.—(AP)—Twenty-eight University of Arkansas Razorbacks will leave Wednesday for Tulsa, Okla., where they meet the University of Tulsa Golden Hurricanes in their annual football classic Thanksgiving day.

Making the trip were: Ends, Benton, Hamilton, Hunter, Gordon, Brodie, tackle, Van Sickle, Leland, Spillers, Stallings, Corbett, Stout; centers, Lunday, Donaldson; backs, B. Martin, Keen, Robbins, Brown, Sloan, Rawlings, Holt, Montgomery and Fletcher.

Woodell Called Home

FAYETTEVILLE.—Lloyd Woodell, brilliant sophomore center of the University of Arkansas Razorbacks, probably will be unable to start against Tulsa University at Tulsa Thanksgiving day.

Woodell left here Tuesday night for Fordyce to attend funeral services for his grandfather, T. J. Dell who died Tuesday.

Fred Thomson, Arkansas coach, said he would start Ken Lunday at center. Loss of Woodell prevented Arkansas from opening with full strength as had been expected.

Used As Bee Food

ST. PAUL, Minn.—(AP)—Soybean meal mixed with powdered skim milk has been discovered by University of Minnesota scientists to be a good tree and flower pollen substitute for bees.

In certain seasons shortage of natural pollen for active brood rearing in the spring is a acute problem among Minnesota beekeepers. Unless bees begin raising their young early in the spring colonies will not reach maximum size by the time the main honey flow comes in, consequently honey production is reduced.

Acting on the desire of beekeepers for a food substitute which could be fed inside the hive Dr. Mykola Haydak of the university made several experiments.

The mixture that proved most successful consists of four parts soybean meal, one part powdered skim milk and 20 parts of clear honey.

Fivefold Feasting and Fun on the Quins' Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving comes to Dionneville! And what a feast for the quintuplets! Yvonne, at the left, is opening her dinner with a whole milk cocktail as Nurse Jacqueline Noel and Marie watch the operation. Almost hidden by the turkey, Emilie drains her cup to the last drop. Cecile is politely allowing herself to be served by Nurse Yvonne Leroux, while Annette on the end, all but hidden by her dark locks, is ready to be helped—as who wouldn't be, when there's such a grand bird on the table?

Copyright, 1936, NEA Service, Inc.

Whatever childish wish might have been behind those dark and shining eyes as Annette merrily broke the wishbone to climax the quintuplets' Thanksgiving, the fulfillment of her desire is the Thanksgiving wish of millions who have watched the five babies grow to happy, robust childhood. Annette would gladly have yielded one end of the wishbone to Marie, but Marie had her hands full. There's no use forsaking realities for wishes. A drumstick's worth hanging on to!

'Who'll Get the Drumstick?' Makes Exciting Game for Two--When 3 Quins Not Around

Copyright, 1936, NEA Service, Inc.

Drumstick, drumstick, who'll get the drumstick? There's a game for the quins on their third Thanksgiving and Marie, left, and Annette are certainly making the most of it. Marie's firm grip on that huge turkey leg bespeaks ownership, but she's not quite to deny sister a bite. Open wide, Annette!

Copyright, 1936, NEA Service, Inc.

Well, well, isn't that about-bite enough, Annette? Marie tugs away at the drumstick while Annette hangs on for just one more morsel. This problem of dividing one's drumstick is getting a bit serious, after all, and Marie seems to think she's entitled to a taste by this time.

Copyright, 1936, NEA Service, Inc.

Um-m-m! Annette's making a real bite out of it. That dainty hold probably would tighten should Marie suddenly decide to try to retrieve that juicy turkey leg. But Marie's smile gives consent. Besides, she still has a good grip herself on that leg, knowing her turn will come.

Copyright, 1936, NEA Service, Inc.

But all's well that ends well and turn-about is fair play. It's Marie's turn now and approvingly she eyes the feast while Annette pinches off one more tiny bit of that delicious turkey leg. In a few more minutes this drumstick will be only a memory of Thanksgiving, 1936.

Riders Aplenty When It's Pickaback Time in Quintupletland With Nurses and Dr. Dafoe

Copyright, 1936, NEA Service, Inc.

Pickaback with Nurse Leroux! There's a game that Emilie plays over and over. This time Emilie has dropped her play in the quin sandpile to jog around the nursery yard, little tin shovel in hand. And Nurse Leroux seems to enjoy the daily romp pretty well, too. But then she's used to it. There are four other quins who like to ride the same way—and every day!

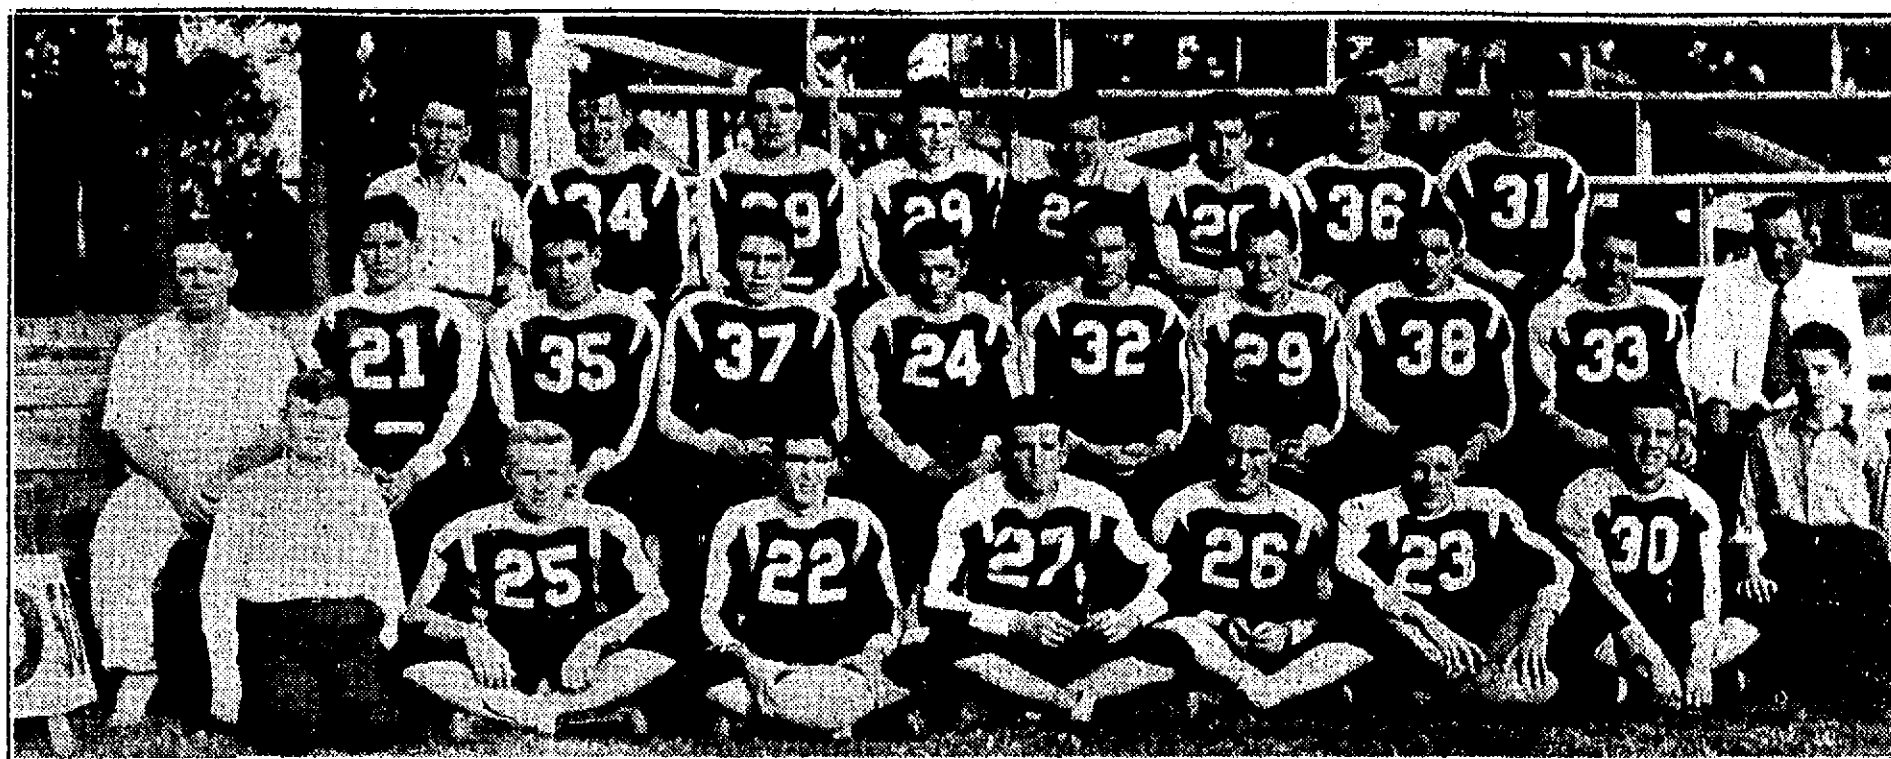

When Yvonne plays pickaback she's quite likely to tag Dr. Allan Ray Dafoe, when the doctor appears at the quin nursery. Confidently Yvonne places her tiny hands in those of the doctor's, slips her feet around his neck, and the romp is on. Is it fun? What do you think?

Copyright, 1936, NEA Service, Inc.

When the Cattland quins go pickaback, Nurse Noel is Johnny on the spot. It's a daily event for her now as the quins grow older and stronger, and here Nurse Noel and Cecile seem to be enjoying the sport 100 per cent! Laughing, her dark eyes sparkling, Cecile has "gone aboard," toy garden rake and all. It looks like a good long ride when the cameraman gets through with this picture.

Bobcats — your home town salutes you!

For the first time in history you have made Hope a championship contender.

There's no champion this year — but you are closing the season in the very first flight of Arkansas football teams, and we're proud of you!

The percentage tells the story.

If you beat Hot Springs you close the season 91% good!

You will have faced 11 opponents with but one defeat.

It used to be news when Hope won a football game.

Now it's news when we lose one.

That's what has happened in three years' coaching under peerless Foy Hammons.

Bobcats — your home town salutes you!
